Short Description

As a follow-up to Inganno Globale, The New American Century presents the historical, philosophical, economical and political background -- some of which is totally unknown to the public -- that lend support to the accusation that the 9/11 terrorist attacks were in fact an inside-job.

Description

THE NEW AMERICAN CENTURY

"Historically accurate, narratively captivating, The New American Century is one of the best films about the facts behind the 9/11 attacks". -- Webster G. Tarpley

"The New American Century is a stunning film. It should be seen as widely as possible, in cinemas, bars, clubs, at meetings and, of course, through the internet. I'm sure the film will continue to be a source of debate and political education for many years." -- Ken Loach.

Massimo Mazzucco's Inganno Globale (soon in English as "Global Deceit") presented all the major inconsistencies in the 9/11 official version -- i.e., World Trade Center's demolition, no Boeing at the Pentagon, etc. -- that lent credibility to the accusation by the so-called "9/11 Truth Movement" of the attacks having been an inside job.

The New American Century presents the historical, philosophical, economical and political background -- some of which is practically unknown to the general public -- that seems to support such accusation by the 9/11 Truth Movement.
